Bead Bugs

Tip: Using the Bead Bugs allows you to keep the beads in place while working multiple strands of beads.

Time to create: 2-3 hours

Instructions:

Inner strand

1. Remove the silk from the card and stretch it out to remove kinks as well as condition the silk.
2. String 2 2x3 crystal rondelles onto the silk and work them toward the tail of the silk. Pass through the innermost loop of the 3-loop clasp and back through the 2 previously strung rondelles.
3. Make an overhand knot in the cord and place a drop of glue on the knot, leaving the tail of the silk to cut off later after the glue has cured.
4. String 1 3x4 crystal rondelle and 5 2x3 crystal rondelles. Repeat 12 more times. String 1 3x4 crystal rondelle and 2 2x3 crystal rondelles.
5. Pass through the loop of the smaller pavé pendant and back through 2 beads. Make an overhand knot and place a drop of glue on the knot. Cut the silk about 1" from the knot and let cure.
6. Repeat steps 2-5 on the other side of the pendant and clasp.

Center Strand

7. Using the same silk and needle from the previous step, string 2 3x4 crystal rondelles onto the silk and work them toward the tail of the silk. Pass through the center loop of the 3-loop clasp and back through the 2 previously strung rondelles.
8. Make an overhand knot in the cord and place a drop of glue on the knot, leaving the tail of the silk to cut off later after the glue has cured.
9. String 68 more 3x4 crystal rondelles and pass through the loop of the large pavé pendant and back through 2 beads. Make an overhand knot and place a drop of glue on the knot. Cut the silk about 1" from the knot and let cure.
10. Repeat steps 7-9 on the other side of the pendant and clasp.
11. Using second card of silk, string 3 3x4 crystal rondelles onto the silk and work them toward the tail of the silk. Pass through the outermost loop of the 3-loop clasp and back through the 2 previously strung rondelles.

12. Make an overhand knot in the cord and place a drop of glue on the knot, leaving the tail of the silk to cut off later after the glue has cured.
13. String 42 6mm crystal faceted rounds, the jumpring of the arrow pavé pendant, 42 6mm crystal faceted rounds, and 3 3x4 crystal rondelles.
14. Pass through the outermost loop of the clasp and back through 3 beads. Make an overhand knot and place a drop of glue on the knot. Cut the silk about 1" from the knot and let cure.
15. Trim all silk tails the following day after the glue has cured.
